

Download References from SciFinder to EndNote

1. Select the references, click on the “Save as” button, then save your references in the Tagged Format (*.txt).

2. Open the EndNote program and create a new EndNote library (you can also open an existing EndNote Library). Choose “File,” then “Import,” and choose your *.txt file as the Import Data File. If “SciFinder (CAS)” doesn’t appear in the Import Option box, choose “Other Filters” and select “SciFinder (CAS)” and then click “Choose.”

3. Click on “Import” and you will see your references.
